An Introduction to The University of Vermont, “UVM”

(The acronym “UVM” is derived from Universitas Viridis Montis – University of the Green Mountains.)

The University of Vermont and State Agricultural College was formed in 1865 as the result of the combination of the University of Vermont and the Vermont Agricultural College. The University was chartered in 1791, the same year that Vermont became the fourteenth state in the Union, as the fifth college in New England and the twentieth in the United States. The Vermont Agricultural College was formed in 1864 as the State’s land-grant institution in accordance with provisions of the Federal Morrill Act.

UVM blends the academic heritage of a private university with the service mission of the land-grant tradition. In 1955, the General Assembly recognized the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College “as an instrumentality of the State for providing public higher education.” Even previous to that recognition the State had annually appropriated funds specifically to the Larner College of Medicine and to the Agricultural Services, and had appropriated tuition scholarship funds for Vermont residents in certain fields of study. Beginning in 1956, the State appropriated new funding to subsidize the cost of educating Vermont students.

UVM is the State’s flagship university and its only comprehensive research institution of higher education. It is located in Burlington, the largest community in the State with a greater metropolitan population of approximately 227,000. It is approximately 90 miles south of Montreal, 230 miles northwest of Boston, and 300 miles north of New York City.

The University Seal. The present official seal of the University was first adopted in 1807. It depicts the sun rising over the Green Mountains with the original “college edifice” (the Old Mill), in the upper foreground; a diagram of the Pythagorean proposition, a quadrant and a globe in the lower foreground. The outer ring of the oval includes the motto, and “Universitas V. Montis. A.D. 1791.”

The Board of Trustees. The 25 members of the Board of Trustees are appointed in four ways. In odd-numbered years, three members are elected by the Vermont General Assembly for 6-year terms, and the nine trustees so chosen constitute the Board of the Vermont Agricultural College established in 1865. In even-numbered years, three members are elected to 6-year terms by a self-perpetuating board of nine trustees who constitute the Board of the University of Vermont founded in 1791. Three trustees are appointed by the Governor of Vermont, one during each odd-numbered year. Each year, one of two students who serve as trustees is selected by the Associated Directors for the Appointment of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College Student Trustees, Inc., for a 2-year term. The Governor of the State and the President of the University serve as trustees ex officio during their terms of office.

Enrollments by College, Residence and Sex

Headcount enrollments serve as an unduplicated count or census of all students enrolled in the University. Headcount information allows us to aggregate or report enrollment information by student characteristics. The Fall 2024 enrollment report shows enrollments by residence, sex, student level and college or school in which the student's major is located. It should be noted that both full-time and part-time students are counted as "1" in headcount enrollment figures.

Salary Trends

Faculty & Staff Total Compensation

What goes into the compensation pie UVM faculty and staff earn for the work they perform? The biggest slice is the base wage or salary. Other slices of the pie vary; they depend on many different factors including marital status, years of service, presence of dependent children, age, retirement plan participation, and tuition remission use.

Benefits enlarge the pie from a slice to the full and complete compensation package. UVM's benefits package is composed of many ingredients, each one contributing to the worth and well-being of the faculty and staff members of the UVM community.

To illustrate, here is a profile of a UVM non-union staff person, a 43-year-old employee, married, with two children, who has worked at UVM for three years, is contributing to the retirement plan, and attending six credits of UVM classes.

Assuming a position with an annual salary of $52,500 and costs for insurance as of July 2024, her total yearly compensation pie looks like this:

Key Components of Total Compensation
One Example

In this example, base salary represents 52% of the total compensation package. In addition to the elements above, she also qualifies for 15 paid holidays and winter break days, 20 vacation days and up to 12 days for medical leave. The value of some post-retirement benefits are not included; in addition, tuition remission for faculty and staff dependents are also excluded. Currently full-time in-state academic year tuition including comprehensive fee is $19,058.

The actual details and the value of the total compensation package will vary depending on the specific family circumstances, salary, and benefit choices made by an employee.

Components of FY 2025 Benefit Expense Budget

As shown below, the largest components of the benefit expense budget is medical/dental health, retirement, and social security, which comprise 90.7% of total benefit expenses.

Endowment Revenue Distributions and Spending

Endowment funds represent gifts to the University and the University of Vermont Foundation. These gifts are to be invested prudently by the institutions and the investment income is to be used for specific purposes. Although income from endowments is primarily restricted, a small portion of the University's endowment is unrestricted and supports general fund operations.

Consolidated Endowment Market Value and Total Return

The consolidated endowment is an investment pool which includes endowments, operating funds, capital reserve funds, and University of Vermont Foundation (UVMF) funds. The consolidated endowment pool grows from new gifts, transfers from the UVMF, investment earnings and appreciation, less spending and investment management expenses. Over a 10 year period beginning June 30, 2015 and ending June 30, 2024, the total market value of the consolidated endowment has grown from $435 million to $861 million.

Market Value of Consolidated Endowment (FY 2015 - FY 2024)

(in thousands $'s)

The primary long-term investment goal is to attain a real total asset return that exceeds the amount being distributed for spending and administration, currently set at 5.50% of the previous 13 quarters' average market value. Other important investment objectives are to achieve annualized returns in excess of the strategic policy portfolio blended benchmark, measured over a full market cycle; and to outperform the median return of a pool of endowment funds with broadly similar investment objectives and policies.

Notes:

1. State support is a broad measure of how much money the state provides from state tax appropriations, non-tax funds (e.g., lottery revenue), and funds appropriated to other state entities for higher education (e.g., employee fringe benefits) to support all higher education. This measure does not include any sums for capital outlays and debt service or sums derived from federal sources, student tuition and fees, or auxiliary enterprises.

2. Higher education support per $1,000 of personal income measures the amount a state spends on higher education relative to its capacity to pay, measured by personal income.

3. Higher education support per capita standardizes funding for a state's population on a per-person level.

4. Federal stimulus funding is not included in this table.

5. Research, agriculture, and medical appropriations (RAM) are estimated for West Virginia in 2024. Non-state funds are estimated for Illinois. All 2024 state support data for Colorado are estimates.

6. Alabama received a large one-time supplemental appropriation in 2023. Fiscal year 2024 includes historic investments in higher education by the Texas Legislature, including a one-time investment of $3.0 billion in state support for the creation of a new endowment fund (the Texas University Fund) to support certain four-year institutions in advancing research performance. The Texas Legislature also made biennial investments of $700 million to support student affordability and $680 million to implement new community college performance-based formula funding and provide a significant expansion to need-based financial aid. Since 2019, there has also been an increase in distributions from a constitutional endowment to support certain institutions in the state.

UVM Libraries

The University of Vermont Libraries furthers the creation, application, and dissemination of knowledge by providing access to information resources. The Libraries are a vital component of the University's commitment to excellence in instruction, innovation in research and scholarship, and dedication to public service. Collectively, the UVM Libraries are northern New England's largest public-research facility.

The Libraries' unique and important collections are distributed throughout three main locations: Howe Memorial, Dana Medical and the Silver Special Collections Library; as well as through the Libraries Research Annex and additional leased off-site storage.

The Libraries' total annual budget exceeds $14.6 million, including salaries and benefits, with a collection that consists of over 2,088,179 books and e-books; 900,000 government documents; 176,000 serials titles; 330 databases; 48,500 streaming and physical media items; and 21,500 linear feet of manuscript and archival materials. Library operations and services are carried out by 23 full-time librarians and 58 full-time staff. Approximately 705,570 patrons use the UVM Libraries during the year. The Libraries' online resources, including the Center for Digital Initiatives, ScholarWorks institutional repository, and UVM's online catalog are available 24/7.

Library Liaisons serve as the principal contacts between the Libraries' and campus departments and programs. They are a key part of the teaching, learning and research lifecycle of the University. Liaisons provide direct instruction of research and critical thinking skills to assist students in the successful completion of their assignments and the development of lifelong learning-skills. Through one-on-one consultations, librarians provide in-depth research assistance to both students and faculty. They also work with instructional and library faculty to select print and electronic materials to support teaching and research.

The Libraries offer a variety of workshops, lectures, and exhibits throughout the year for both the campus community and the general public, on topics as diverse as technology, privacy, book arts, health sciences, Vermont history, and database and internet search tools.

UVM Larner College of Medicine

Established in 1822 as one of the nation's first medical schools, The Robert Larner, M.D. College of Medicine at The University of Vermont recently celebrated 200 years of service to the community, the state, and the region.

The mission of the Larner College of Medicine is to educate a diverse group of dedicated physicians and biomedical scientists to serve across all the disciplines of medicine; to bring hope to patients by advancing medical knowledge through research; to integrate education and research to advance the quality and accessibility of patient care; and to engage with our communities to benefit Vermont and the world.

In 2016, the UVM Board of Trustees voted to name the College of Medicine in honor of 1942 alumnus Dr. Robert Larner in recognition of his $100 million in lifetime giving. The new name became official on September 23, 2016.

Medical Education

Over 32% of all physicians and 38% of primary care physicians practicing in Vermont received their education or training at UVM, and each year more than 9,000 applicants compete for 124 places in the entering class. Approximately 26% of all current medical students are from Vermont with the remainder calling 39 states, territories and districts in the U.S. and 11 countries home. Our graduates match in graduate medical education programs at top institutions nationwide, with 38-40% consistently choosing to pursue careers in primary care. The College has long been in the forefront of medical education and is recognized as an innovator among medical schools worldwide. The curriculum offers students a firm grounding in the basic sciences, early access to diverse clinical experiences, exposure to world-class research, and an emphasis on community engagement, helping students become competent, compassionate, dedicated physicians with a life-long desire to learn. The curriculum is designed using evidence-based active learning teaching methods, an initiative that has garnered international attention from educators and prospective medical students alike. The College is determined to evolve alongside the communities it serves, recognizing the importance of diversity in healthcare. The institution aims to reflect the changing demographics of its patient populations, acknowledging that health equity is a top priority to improve patient outcomes.

Research

The College takes an innovative, multi-disciplinary approach to medical research that builds on its strengths in several key areas: cardiovascular disease; neuroscience, behavior and health; cancer; pulmonary and environmental disease; immunobiology/infectious disease; metabolic disease; and public health services and outcomes research. In FY24, the College received 318 awards totaling $101.5 million in external funding to support basic science and clinical research. This accounted for 45% of all research funding for UVM this fiscal year. The College is home to national Centers of Biomedical Research Excellence: the Vermont Center for Behavior and Health, the Vermont Center for Cardiovascular and Brain Health, the Cardiovascular Research Institute of Vermont, the Translational Global Infectious Disease Research Center, and the Vermont Center for Immunology and Infectious Diseases. Recently, investigators at Larner received a $10.1 million NIH grant to continue their work focused on stroke and cognitive disorders in the U.S. The NIH will provide $16.4 million over two years and $37.1 million over five, with UVM receiving over $10 million. This funding aims to address health disparities among Black Americans and rising stroke mortality. The UVM Cancer Center (UVMCC) received a $7 million grant from the National Cancer Institute (NCI) for a smartphone-based intervention for chemo-induced neuropathy, and in continuing to address the need for rural health care, the Northeast Rural Health Research Center will conduct research focused on rural health care access with a $2.8 million grant from the Federal Office of Rural Health Policy. The Center will collaborate with the University of Southern Maine to study topics including: rural health insurance, emergency medical services, behavioral health, healthy aging, and policy strategies to support rural health care providers.

Patient Care

The UVM Medical Center, part of the 6-hospital UVM Health Network, is a 562-bed regional referral center with Larner clinical faculty providing advanced care to approximately 1 million residents in Vermont and northern New York, with a Level I Trauma Center, the UVMCC, the UVM Children's Hospital, and a Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. The network also includes more than 30 patient care sites and 100 outreach clinics, programs and services across the region. The College also has a branch campus in Connecticut through its partnership with Nuvance Health.

Community Service

Serving the world we live in is a vitally important mission of Larner College of Medicine. The College partners with state leaders in finding solutions for the issues affecting patients, populations and policy, and many of our programs serve as national and global models of excellence. The College is involved in community outreach and health improvement programs throughout Vermont, including the Area Health Education Centers, student public health projects, Schweitzer Fellows, nutrition education and more.

UVM Agricultural Services

UVM Agricultural Services personnel have worked throughout Vermont in cooperation with citizens, agricultural and natural resources-based agencies and enterprises, and Vermont communities since the founding of the Experiment Station in 1886. UVM is committed to sustaining Vermont's working landscape and cultivating healthy communities through these services.

In addition to virtual and on-site programming, UVM Extension operates out of 12 offices across Vermont (above), one research farm, and an agricultural engineering lab.

The Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station (VT-AES), created in 1886, is a state/federal partnership designed to address Vermont's agricultural issues through research. VT-AES is comprised of approximately 40 faculty researchers across the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences' (CALS) academic departments. In FY 2024, Station researchers conducted 156 projects funded by public and private sources. Station researchers are nationally and internationally recognized for their excellence. Areas of research prominence include:

1. Animal Health, Production, and Products
2. Development and Sustainability of Communities
3. Foundational and Exploratory Research in Agriculture
4. Nutritional Value, Food Security, and Food Safety
5. Quality of the Natural Environment
6. Sustainability of Vermont Agriculture, Food and Forests

UVM Extension, also housed within CALS, is a state/federal partnership created by the state Legislature in 1913. Extension faculty, staff, and trained volunteers provide and facilitate research, education, and outreach with partners for the people of Vermont, in the areas of healthy families, natural environment, sustainable agriculture, food and forests, and community development.

In the past year, UVM Extension educators directly engaged 32,800 community members through 920 evidence-based programs, delivering 5,650 hours of education. Thousands more received educational information through on-farm technical assistance, individualized consultation, and published (or virtual) content. Extension's highly successful 4-H and other youth programs provided educational opportunities to more than 8,750 young people through experiential learning and community service. Volunteer support is a critical component of Extension programming and education. In FY24, 2,227 individuals donated 33,312 hours of their time, valued at $1,090,301. By delivering this timely, research-based education, UVM Extension helps Vermonters make sound decisions about their families, communities, businesses, and the natural environment.

Extension's signature farm, home, and community television show "Across the Fence" on WCAX-TV in Burlington produces over 260 shows a year and reaches an estimated 15,000 households each day. In addition, the show has several thousand subscribers and followers via YouTube and Facebook.

Faculty and staff are committed to helping increase agricultural business profitability, enhance forest stewardship and safety, enhance farm stewardship and safety, promote economic vitality, increase adult and youth life skills and involvement in communities, and improve nutrition and food safety for thousands of Vermont consumers.

UVM Professional and Continuing Education (PACE)

PACE supports the University of Vermont's commitment to lifelong learning and global outreach. Through the development and delivery of courses, programs, and professional certificates on the UVM campus, online, and at off-campus locations, PACE provides part-time and professional students with access to the University's academic resources and student support services.

- College Credit, Academic Year. During the academic year, over 1,000 PACE students have access to 600+ on-campus and online course sections each semester. PACE attracts high school students, visiting undergraduate students, pre-graduate students, pre-professional students, and working professionals. These students enroll in credit courses in preparation for undergraduate and graduate programs, professional certification, career advancement, or lifelong learning. PACE also supports specialized learning pathways, like the Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program, enabling students to prepare for successful matriculation into subsequent educational programs.
- Professional Online Graduate Programs. PACE supports professionals in pursuit of advanced credentials through online, graduate-level, academic programs. Degree programs, like the online Master of Public Health and online Master of Medical Science, prepare learners to enter professional fields or pursue subsequent doctoral-level studies. Other graduate-level programs, such as the Certificate of Graduate Study in Epidemiology or the Certificate of Graduate Study in Agroecology, offer students the opportunity to augment another graduate program or serve as a standalone credential that reflects their scholarly activity in a specialized topic.
- Employer Engagement. PACE aligns the University's resources and strengths with the identified skills gaps of employers through needs assessments and by developing customized programming that provides solutions for regional workforce. Supporting the needs of industries and businesses in sectors that are key economic drivers in our state and region provides tremendous value to the employers, learners, the community, and the University.
- Professional Certificates & Non-Credit Courses. PACE develops and delivers professional certificates, short courses, and other non-credit learning opportunities for individuals interested in continuing their education, preparing for a career change, enhancing their skills, completing an industry certification or credential, and/or engaging in lifelong learning. PACE has a long-standing history of providing professional certificate programs in leadership, management, project management, and other customized professional development and training opportunities. More recently, PACE offers innovative and online industry-leading certificate programs such as healthcare programs, manufacturing courses, and the End-of-Life Doula Professional Certificate.
- Summer University. PACE facilitates nearly 7,000 UVM undergraduate, graduate, and part-time student enrollments in over 400 courses during Summer University. Through innovative online, on-campus, off-campus, field study, and internships, students earn credits toward their degree programs and explore new areas of interest. This enables students to complete requirements for undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs, while engaging with university faculty and visiting instructors.
- Pre-College. PACE supports high school students interested in earning college credit during the academic year and summer. Through the State of Vermont Dual Enrollment Voucher Program, eligible Vermont high school juniors and seniors can enroll in two college courses tuition-free. In addition to the voucher program, high school students have access to other University tuition savings and scholarship programs. Around 450 high school students enroll in academic year and Summer University introductory level classes as well as Summer Academy courses specifically designed for these students.
- The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at UVM provides intellectually stimulating, affordable, non-credit learning opportunities for people aged 50 and older, and is part of a national network of 125 lifelong learning institutes across the country. UVM OLLI offers over 200 year-round programs—including online and in-person programs and local or international travel opportunities. With more than 3,000 participants in Vermont, programs are held in the Greater Burlington Area and at six other locations statewide.

Full-Time Equivalent Students Taught (FTE-S) - An indication of teaching loads derived from student credit hours taught (SCH) where total student credit hours are divided by the defined full-time credit hour load. It is the numerator in calculating the student-to-faculty ratio. For undergraduate and non-degree students a full-time load is defined as 15 credit hours a semester, 30 credit hours for the full academic year. A full-time load for graduate and certificate students is defined as 12 credit hours a semester, 24 credit hours for the full academic year.

Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) Faculty - All full-time faculty have a full-time equivalency (FTE) equal to 1.00. Part-time faculty have a full-time equivalency ranging from 0.00 to 0.99 based upon their job responsibilities and length of appointment.
